

Back Omaha!

The GATEWAY

TO THE UNIVERSITY OF OMAHA

VOL. IX

OMAHA, NEBRASKA, JANUARY 29, 1930

WEAVER CALLS WATER-WAYS PROJECT GREATEST PROBLEM OF ADMINISTRATION

E. W. Emery Introduces Governor to Listeners

Wandscheer Leads 400 in Singing; Saratoga Drummers Play

Calling the present water-ways situation the most pressing problem of the mid-west and the foremost duty of the present administration, Governor Arthur J. Weaver spoke before four hundred educationally interested persons of North Omaha in the gymnasium of the university on Thursday evening, Jan. 23. Fred Rankin, chairman of the First Ward Forum which sponsored the program, introduced Dr. E. W. Emery, president of the university, who in turn presented Governor Weaver.

"With the entire Mississippi river in operation today, it is the business of people in Nebraska, Iowa, and the Dakotas to advance the development of the Missouri so that we may remain among the leaders," asserted the governor.

12 Million to Project

"Kansas City will have the Missouri river at its wharves within one year and is ready for it. We of Nebraska should also be ready when the time comes. Twelve million dollars has been devoted to the development of the Missouri and it is only logical that some benefit be derived from this provision."

"One to one and a half million dollars is lost each year because of failure to provide for the Missouri. The flood of the Mississippi might have been avoided had the proper precautions been taken in time. The present Flood Control bill has been too hastily prepared. It should provide for tributary control and storage reservoirs," said Governor Weaver.

Joe Wandscheer of the Conservatory of Music, led the audience in singing patriotic songs. The Saratoga school drum corps played several selections and completed the program.

Lambda Phi Legal Group Has Party

Students Hear Gov. Weaver on Water-Ways Project

Lambda Phi, law fraternity of the university, held a general get-together party at the Elks club on Thursday evening, Jan. 23. Governor Arthur J. Weaver spoke for a few minutes on the water-ways problem. The program opened with six rounds of boxing, followed by talks from various alumni, active and pledge members.

Governor Weaver was introduced by Walter Schroeder, active officer of the fraternity, who arranged having the governor attend the meeting after speaking at the university campus.

"The law profession is one of the greatest lines of service to the public that anyone can offer today," said the governor.

Elloise Jetter Plays Numbers for Assembly

The assembly Wednesday, Jan. 18, was presided over by Dean G. W. James in the absence of Dr. E. W. Emery, who was attending a convention at Washington, D. C.

Elloise Jetter of the Conservatory of Music, played two piano solos for the students and faculty members. The selections were "Chorus" by Oscar French, and the "Dance of the Quakers" by Franz Liszt.

TUITION MUST BE PAID

L. D. Crenshaw, bursar, has urged that all persons pay their tuition immediately in order to receive credit for work during the semester. He also announced that students who have not paid tuition in full will not be admitted next semester.

"American Jazz Is Cheap"—B. Schlanta

"Real American music is fine but this American jazz is less than nothing," said Professor Bogdan Schlanta, of the Conservatory of Music, in a talk during the assembly period Wednesday, Jan. 22.

Professor Schlanta discussed the music of America in comparison with the music of Russia and Bohemia. He also entertained the crowd with a group of selections on the violin.

Pan-Hel Announces New Rushing Rules

Greek rushing on the campus will be governed with a set of new rules adopted by the Pan-Hellenic Council at the meeting held last Wednesday.

Rushing will extend through an entire week this semester, from Feb. 3 to 9. Fraternities and sororities may have three parties as a maximum during this time. Saturday officially closes rushing. Sunday being set aside as silent day.

Attempts to govern fraternity rushing have not, in the past, been successful, though various systems have been in force for a number of years.

"Singer Slandered Falsely in Journal"

Logan Resents Chicago Criticism Of Werrenrath's Attitude

I regret the statement which appeared in the Music News as reprinted by The Gateway last week which said Reinold Werrenrath appeared to be bored and disgusted," asserted Professor N. J. Logan of the Conservatory of Music, commenting on the criticism given "The Messiah" by the Chicago publication.

"The statement was probably due to the fact that the singer was following the score of 'The Messiah' from a miniature copy. When he sang his solos, he was required to use a larger book.

"Concerning such a great artist and such a likeable person, slandering things should never have been said. He was very enthusiastic about the performance of 'The Messiah.'

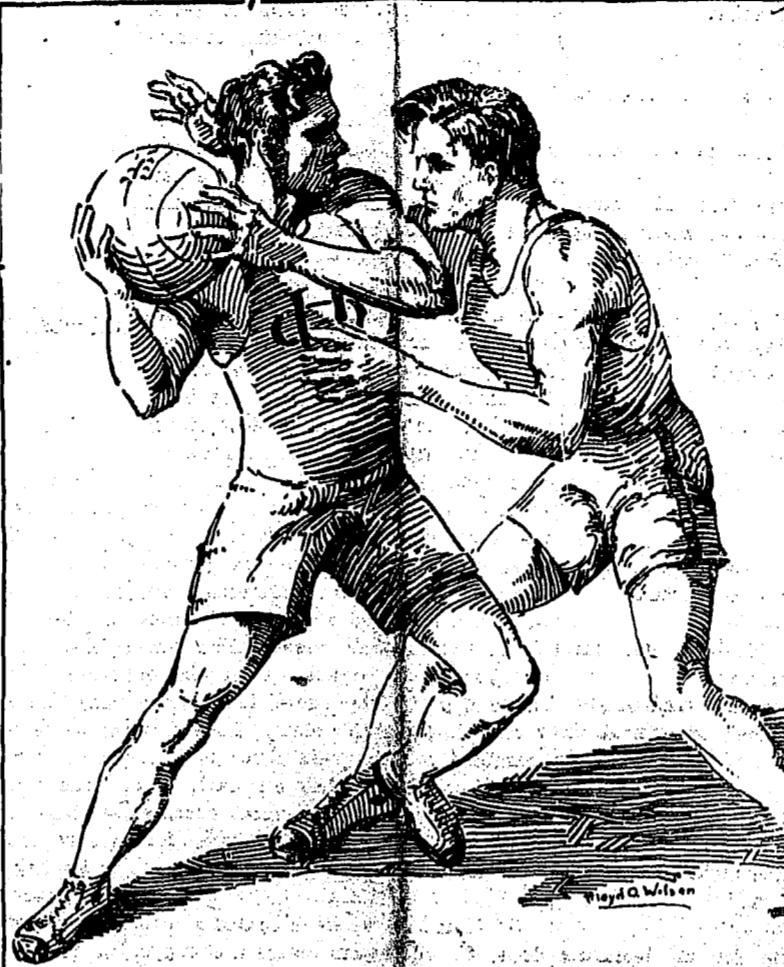

Forty Girls Enroll In All-School Glee

Twenty More Expected Says Organizer N. J. Logan

Professor N. J. Logan has announced that 40 girls have already signed up for Girls' Glee Club and that he expects at least 20 more girls to do so soon. The next meeting of the Glee Club will be held Thursday, Feb. 4, at 4 o'clock. At this time a regular time will be decided upon for future rehearsals. Professor Logan also announced that all students are eligible for membership in the club. The impression received by some, that only students in the conservatory are eligible, is entirely erroneous.

The following girls have obtained membership in the club: first soprano, Grace Kunkel, Rose Zemlak, Helen Johnson, Dorothy Swanson, Charles Winter, Roberta McGill, Helen Moeller, Gretchen Kramer, Betty Curtis, Louis Woepel, Gladys Mora, Mrs. High, Mr. and Mrs. Russell, and Rev. A. J. (Continued on Page 4)

Public School Music To Present Operetta

Logan Lauds Gillard as Successful Leader in Conservatory

WILL SELECT LEADS

Mrs. Nell Griscom Gillard, head of the Public School of Music Department will present the operetta "Jerry of Jericho Road" by Clark sometime during the month of March, according to N. J. Logan of the Conservatory of Music. The leads in the operetta are yet to be selected.

Speaking of the progress made by the Public School Music Department, professor Logan said:

Present Faculty Efficient

"The main back-bone in any real conservatory of music is its Public School Music Department. The present Omaha Conservatory has the efficient type of faculty that goes into the making of such a body."

Cecil Berryman, head of the piano and theory department, along with Mrs. Gillard, who heads the Public School Music division, are cited by professor Logan as being outstanding in aiding the Conservatory to grow.

"Two years ago, the Conservatory did not have more than three students enrolled in the piano department," said professor Logan. "Today, we have more than enough to keep nine instructors busy all of the time.

Predicts Success

"I feel quite sure that the Junior class of the Public School of Music which will put on the coming operetta, will make a fine success of it under the able supervision of Mrs. Gillard."

The enrollment for the next semester in the Conservatory of Music promises to take greater strides than ever before, according to professor Logan.

Baker Stars in One Act "Whose Money?"

Play Directed by J. Wickersham of Play Production Class

IS ASSEMBLY FEATURE

"Whose Money?", the third in a series of one-act plays presented by the dramatic class of the University of Omaha was given at assembly on Friday, Jan. 24. The play, a farce written by Lee Dickson and Leslie M. Hickson, was directed by Jane Wickersham. There were three characters in the cast. The part of Mr. Dell, an irresponsible and hen-pecked husband, was played by Russell Baker. The part of Isabel Dell, his wife, was well taken by Odile Allen Carey; and the obliging burglar was played by N. K. Woerner.

Has Poker Plot

The scene is laid in the living room of the modern Dell home. A review of the plot follows: Mr. Dell has lost one hundred dollars in a poker game, and he finds it necessary to pay the debt or be put out of his club. Having placed his income in his wife's name he is obliged to ask her for the required sum, and she, being aware of the nature of the debt, refuses to give it to him.

This painful situation is relieved by the appearance of a burglar, armed with a nasty looking revolver. Dell wrests his gun away and induces him to open the safe to procure the necessary hundred. When Mrs. Dell returns she finds her husband where he has neatly trussed himself up in a chair—to give the appearance of having been overpowered and robbed. She unties him and discovers that the burglar has made off with the entire contents of the safe. Dell, stricken by the

(Continued on Page 4)

Student Delegate to Detroit Tells of Trip to Anti-Saloon League Convention

BY JEANETTE WINTERS

"Fun? I should say so! A trip to Detroit with all expenses paid was certainly a vacation worth while. Not exactly a vacation, either, for at our Anti-Saloon convention there were meetings from morning until night, with such good speakers that we only wished we could hear them and see the city at the same time."

"On the evening of Tuesday, Jan. 14, the delegates from Nebraska, thirty in number, with P. A. High state representative of the League, Mrs. High, Mr. and Mrs. Russell, and Rev. A. J. (Continued on Page 4)

BAXTER COMPARES PRESENT MUNY MOVE WITH ANCIENT STATE UNIVERSITY IDEA

EXTEND SYMPATHY

On behalf of the faculty and student body of the University of Omaha, Dr. E. W. Emery has extended sympathy to Mrs. J. C. Dahlman, wife of the late J. C. Dahlman, mayor of Omaha.

French Students Plan To Present Three Acts

The French classes, under the direction of Miss Gertrude Kincaide, of the French department, are planning a three-act play, to be given entirely in the foreign language. Although understandable to only a favored few as regards the words, Miss Kincaide stated that the theme of the story would be made clear to everyone by means of gestures and actions.

Dunn Replaces Mennie As Council President

Arthur Dunn, senior, was elected the president of the Student Council at the bi-monthly meeting of the Council on Jan. 20. This office was formerly held by Merle Mennie, who recently left school. Other nominations for this office were made in favor of Linda Bradway, and Floyd Wilson. The president of this organization must be either a senior or junior classman.

"The Omahan" election, which was in charge of the Student Council, was discussed in detail and the various judges were appointed by the president: Robert Streitwieser, Law School; Floyd Wilson, College of Commerce; and Linda Bradway, June Pickard, Mable Shively and Hector Evans were in charge of the voting at College of Arts and Science.

Psi Kappa Gamma Hears J. W. Yeager

Says Most Laws Result of Group Clamor and Mob

Attorney John W. Yeager spoke to members and friends of Psi Kappa Gamma, Tuesday, Jan. 21, on the subject, "The Application of Psychology to the Law Profession."

In opening his address Mr. Yeager stated that law is the child of psychology and that the child has been controlled and cared for by the parent. He added that the word law itself has a psychological background.

"Psychology does not always bring forth the best laws," he said. "Sometimes the legislator mistakes group clamor for thinking and the resulting law is a product of mob psychology."

Student Vote Favors Annual Publication

Night Classes Signify Refusal to Pay Extra "Two-and-Half" Fee

The results on the all-school vote as to whether or not students of the university would pay an extra fee of two dollars and a half along with the regular incidental fee in order to finance the annual "Omahan" were announced as favoring the publication. The vote was 112 favoring and 66 opposing.

Through some error, the night classes did not have an opportunity to cast votes and students called there have announced their refusal to pay the fee if a re-vote is not taken.

Art Dunn, president of the Student Council, has refused a re-vote and is making plans to hold the election of editor-in-chief and business manager for the "Omahan." Due to examinations, the election will not be held this week.

Read the Ads!

No. 12

Cites Figures Before Engineer C. of C. Meet

North Central Recognition Would Come Out of New Basis

Placing the University of Omaha on a municipal ownership basis would increase the prestige of the school, add hundreds of students to its membership rolls and give the institution recognition by the North Central conference, predicted W. F. Baxter at a recent luncheon of the Engineers club held at the Chamber of Commerce.

"The municipal university idea is now where the state university idea was fifty years ago," he said. "The time is not far distant when every city in the country, with a population of 100,000 or more will recognize the value of such an institution."

For some time, Mr. Baxter has been actively engaged in carrying on the project of making a municipal university in Omaha and the plans at present are to make the present University of Omaha a present to the city when the final vote has favored such an institution.

Only 9000 Needed

"Only nine thousand signatures were needed on petitions asking submission of the municipal university proposal at the spring election," said Mr. Baxter. "We already have more than 13 thousand and they are still coming in." Mr. Baxter went on to say that the value of such an institution cannot be over-estimated. "First, it becomes a continuously permanent proposition when it is amply financed by the city," he said. "Secondly, it affords opportunity for thousands of promising young men and women who would otherwise not be enabled to receive a higher education, to do so. It cannot help but become an economic asset to the city."

Emery Reports Rapid Growth of University

Makes Public Figures Showing Increase of 164 Students

Omaha university with an increase of 164 college students over the first semester, in 1928-29, has enjoyed one of the most prosperous years in the history of the institution, a report of President E. W. Emery Saturday revealed:

"The University of Omaha has become a real center of educational influence in the city," the report states, "radiating her training not only through students on the campus, but also in giving very definite training to the various groups of the city."

100 Arts Increase

An increase in the college of arts and science alone, totals nearly 100 students, says the report. Total enrollment in all departments of the school was 677 as compared with 613 for the same period last year. The college of law, with 39 students, revealed an increase of 22 over the 1928-29 semester, and the college of commerce had an increase of 18.

Social Institute to Have Luncheon Feb. 1

The Institute for Social Research will hold a luncheon meeting on Saturday, February 1, at the Grand Hotel.

Professor T. Hoyt Williams, president, that the purpose of the meeting will be to consider research, educational, financial, and other matters of interest to the Department of Sociology.

THE GATEWAY

Published Every Wednesday of the School Year by Students of the University of Omaha, at Omaha, Nebraska.
Entered as a second class matter February 15, 1927, at the Post Office at Omaha, Nebraska, under the Act of March 3, 1879. Special rate of postage as provided in the Act of February 28, 1925, granted on February 25, 1927.

Subscription Price—By Mail, $1.00 per school year, single copy 5 cents.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor.....	Don McMahill
Managing Editor.....	Phyllis Warrick
Society Editor.....	Margaret Addy
Sports Editor.....	Richard Birge
Girls' Sports Editor.....	Elma Gove
Cartoonists.....	Fred Wideo, Floyd Wilson
Proofreader.....	Max Wainwright

REPORTORIAL STAFF

Fred Wideo	John Quinn	Bob Browne
Robert Streitwieser	Don Hayward	Jeanette Winters
Curtis Hultgren	Gall Savidge	Samuel Manoli
Vivian Krisel	Mabel Shively

BUSINESS STAFF

Advertising Manager.....	Charles Gardner
Circulation Managers.....	Ray Fraley, Fred Bonorden
Faculty Sponsor.....	A. M. Johnson

EDITORIAL

COMING SHADOWS

Old man ground-hog will awaken from his long winter sleep on February 2. If, when coming into the light from the dark, this little animal should or should not happen to see his shadow, the world will or will not progress during the next six weeks. So say the philosophers of the fields. Whether this superstition is true or false, we are able to take full advantage of the little lesson that old man ground-hog has unknowingly offered each year.

Success in sports and scholarship do not come out of such trivial events as the ground-hog seeing his shadow. Success in such things comes only after the student has intelligently comprehended those things which others have to offer. He must then sift them according to his own judgment and experience them in life. When he has done so and still retains a logical outlook on life, he has met with success.

The student will gain an inward feeling of satisfaction in knowing that he is favored by the activities of the ground-hog. If the prophecy made by that animal should predict misfortune, the wise one will forget all about such trivial things and turn to matters more sensible. Any number of meanings may be attached to the advent of the ground-hog, but we prefer this one:

Good luck is fine but bad luck is false.

TO THINK OR—

The statement that educational institutions, especially colleges, have as a primary purpose teaching young people to think and form opinions of their own is so often repeated as to bring it almost into the class of platitudes. The statement is, without doubt, an excellent one, while the practice of the theory contained therein would be even better, also without doubt.

But, and here begins the discussion, just let any student try to practice it in the majority of places, and see what happens. It is a sad but true fact that there are few instructors, however broad-minded, who will stand by and see their pet theories demolished by students who have reasoned out a different conclusion.

"Yes," they will say, "perhaps you have been thinking about the matter but you have not been thinking about it in the correct way. Now the truth of the matter is—," and then follows a short, or prolonged statement of what students in general, and that student in particular should accept.

Yes, colleges are established to teach young people to think. And yet, after seeing what has happened in cases where students have thought, one is rather inclined to paraphrase a line or two from "Hamlet's Soliloquy" and remark: "To think or not to think, that is the question. Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to calmly agree or—"

Submitted by Student.

At least Mister Shannahan gives us some very good excuses for our tardiness. The only trouble is that we are actually telling the truth when we say "Street-cars were late. Had to wait thirty-five minutes."

Sub-zero weather found The Gateway office deluged with requests for the loan of a mammoth electric heater which is used in freezing out benumbed fingers.

Remember that student contributions to this newspaper are always welcome.

"Praise is the sunflower,
With gaudy crown of gold;
But friendship is the breathing rose,
With sweets in every fold."
—Oliver Wendell Holmes

"A friendless" says Addison, "that makes the least noise is the most popular—for which reason I should prefer a pre-arranged silence."

"The Browne Jug"

FAMILIAR AILMENTS

Pendisylitis
Scarlat fever
Namoanya
Diphtheria
Hodak
Roomism
Nritis
Hoopingcawf
Codenhed
Nienza

"I hear that White is enrolled in Ethics."

"I didn't even know he was sick."

"Come right over, Doc. The baby is awfully sick. Er—you might bring a pint of whiskey with you, too."

Traffic cop's daughter to Hollister on Davenport: "Hey, you. Where do you think you're going?"

Johanson: "Hear you were a surgeon during the war?"

Sullenger: "No, I was just a corporal."

Organ Recital: Two old maids on the sun porch of a sanitarium.

Oola, Johnson: "Shall I list this case as appendicitis?"

"Generous Collegiate" Wainwright: "No, no. Just a case of opened by mistake."

A midnight singer going home—"I am just a vagabond lover."

A voice out of the night—"You look like a tramp to me."

The theme song for all lecturing classes is—"I'm a dreamer but aren't we all?"

Mother to son who is about to die at the end of a rope: "Son, isn't there anything I can say or do for you?"

Son: "Ah-well-I-I—Where did you get that red hat?"

A lady: "You brute, how could you! Bang! Bang!"

Gentleman: "Oh, I am shot."

Lady: "Oh! Pardon me. Just a slight mistake. I thought you were my husband."

Are you shaving, dear?
No, just scraping my face. Thanks to Gillette.

"Say, who are you?"
"I'm just a little atom trying to find a mate."

A bell installed in the hash-house would help a few students get to class on time.

Who's Who at the U. of O.

Dr. T. Earl Sullenger, head of the Department of Sociology at the University of Omaha, is a graduate of State Teachers College, Bowling Green, Kentucky. He received his A. B. and M. A. from the University of Oklahoma and his Ph. D. from the University of Missouri. He has also taken work at the University of Chicago and Wisconsin.

At various times during his college work Prof. Sullenger taught classes. He has had experience in rural schools and was City superintendent in Kentucky. During the time he was studying in Oklahoma, he also was Superintendent of a city school.

Following his work, Prof. Sullenger enlisted in the war. He was in the Navy Recruiting Service for fifteen months and two weeks, and did psychiatric work (giving of mental tests to the recruits).

After the war he finished his schooling and took a position as Community Organizer and Director of Research for the University of Oklahoma. From there he went to Richmond, Virginia, where he acted as Executive secretary of the Moral College of the Student Y. M. C. A. While there he gave a series of lectures in Social Research at the Assembly Committee and the Academic Committee.

This is a branch of the old William and Mary College.

Dr. Sullenger came to Omaha in 1922. He organized the first department of Sociology and directed the Institute for Training Recreational Workers. During all his teaching

Mac's Mutterings

SINKING SLOWLY into depths of despair this week, unable to think to save our neck. And we who yelled about the proof of the student being in the testing, find that only too true were those words.

ON WRITING this Saturday morning, we are inspired by lusty yells coming from two grade school teams of colored boys who seem to get a terrible kick out of shooting baskets in the gym.

HAVING BEEN tipped off regards a good feature story in the teachers' room, we plan to disclose some terrible facts next week. Sit tight and don't hold your breath.

THAT LAST game held at Benson was about as peppy as a horse with lumbago—and students. All we can do is point to that epic as one reason for athletics remaining in the background on this campus. Most of our wonderful students blush a little behind their yet-damp ears when they are forced to own up and say they are going to the University of Omaha.

They say that athletics are terrible and they really don't understand. But when the night of a big game comes along, those same wise-hiemers take it upon their conceited selves to throw a party elsewhere, leaving the varsity to its own defeat. Instead of searching for the real cause of lacking school spirit, they sit back and raise whoopee with several accents. Come on, Rome, doggone yuh, fall. Who cares?

NOW THAT we have spilled a little dope, we will again notice a slump in our popularity on this campus. Ad Hash House snobs.

A FEW news flashes: From the New York Times we see and class as a most famous deed the following: Harold Vivian, chief control operator of the Columbia Broadcasting company, which recently completed a hook-up of 59 stations in the United States and Canada, saved the day and speech for King George V by grasping the broken ends of a wire and allowing the current to pass through his body. Otherwise the program would have been delayed twenty minutes. Friend Harold must feel quite royal now, having six minutes of a king's speech in his veins.

A NEW theater having 2,800 seating capacity is being planned by Earl Carroll, noted New York theatrical producer. Dr. N. M. Judd of the Smithsonian Institute of Archaeology has discovered 250 miles of pre-American irrigation canals near Phoenix, Ariz. Iowa people, while foremost in butter-producing, use substitutes for butter. Almost half of the population prefers the cheaper kind.

RIPLEY HAS missed noting a cow in Denmark which has a wooden leg, but let that be not to his discredit.

MICE ARE better sentinels in warning mine rescue crews of gas than were the poor canaries of former days.

SOME THINGS to look over: "The Tragedy Evolves" by Emil Ludwig, showing the history of war. "The Case of Sergeant Grischa" by Arnold Zweig, who is now at work on a war book "Education Before Verdun" which makes our own "Damned War" open to pity. Mustn't miss George Ade's Fable of the Two Mandolin Players or The Preacher who Flew his Kite.

TWO OF the foremost comic magazines are taking the back-ground in our humble opinion. Life is cutting size every issue while Judge fails to have even the inkling of a good original joke. Maybe we are becoming too calloused, who knows?

COLLEGIATE PEPPYS: Bobbing from a hectic week wherein nothing of note was accomplished . . . scarce six hours of sleeping with the night and studies untouched . . . and lady crew for dates . . . ear so numbed with the cold we must stick into line with Shannahan under-dogs and suffer the chills of waiting . . . cover Governor Weaver advent to our gym along with Hearst man who escape us with a picture . . . feet as if we knew A. J. W. for some years . . . rush for books, rush for Lambda Phi Beta, rush for poems, rush for this and that and finally swamped and forced to rise early to Saint . . . name seem terrible . . . Alpha Kappa Delta out for our scalp which means a night class to make . . . eager to live up meaning innocent for this task . . . to ponder.

Cold weather! Do you think this is cold? If you think this is cold you should have experienced the cold days forty or fifty years ago. This brings back to my mind an extremely cold winter we had in 1888 when I was a little whelp. It was in the dead of winter; not a tree was on a leaf. In fact it was so cold that even the absolute thermometers wouldn't register.

It was on such a day as this that

THE CUBS' CORNER

This literary corner is especially intended for the publication of amateur poetry and short prose selections written exclusively by the students of the University of Omaha. The encouragement of talent along literary lines is its earnest aim. Any contributions from students will be welcomed.

OLD TREES

They're cutting the old tree down!
No! Not that ancient patriarch
With furrowed coat,
That scarred old giant who
Through weary years sank
Living anchors down
To hold fast,
And raised his gnarled
Arms to God
And said
To thee belongs?
But why should I weep
For a tree,
I who know men
As old?

Co-Ed Calls "Collegiate" Term
Paradoxical; a Mocking Comfort

ANOTHER STUDENT CONCEPTION

Although the statement may seem paradoxical, it is a fact that many more of the species "collegiate" are to be found in the high schools than in the universities. The originator of the term may have labored under the belief that college students were really collegiate, or he may merely have felt that college students were so bad that one more accusation could not hurt them.

The collegiate spends a great deal of time in impressing people who really don't matter in the least, and in getting publicity which isn't worth the paper that it is printed on. The college student has learned, or is in the process of learning that his own ideas are infinitely more important than the machine made opinions that are offered to him.

The collegiate feels that doing nothing in particular with a great deal of energy is the sum total of all good. The college student has —Co-Ed.

POT PORRIDGE BY C. H.

PROGRESS IN SCIENCE

A new and scientific use of the house fly has been discovered by one of the heads of the Smithsonian Institution. This astronomer has made an extremely sensitive instrument out of two pieces of a fly wing. On this fly's wing he concentrates the heat from the star being measured. The rays are magnified by a complicated system involving a quartz fiber thinner than a hair and a mirror about the size of a pin point. With this instrument the scientist can determine what the spectra from the heat of any star received on the world's largest telescope (located at Mount Wilson) would be like if the spectra of heat waves instead of visible light could be measured.

Another possible discovery is a new use of the thermometer. Several geologists think that the thermometer may be useful in determining the location of oil deposits, for investigations show that the temperature is higher when oil rather than water flows under the crust of the earth. In a similar manner the thermometer can be used in locating coal deposits or salt deposits.

The progress of science is growing by leaps and bounds. In this day and age nothing seems impossible; what was impossible yesterday is possible today. The possibilities of science lie in the discovery of the laws of nature. As soon as the necessary laws have been discovered the thing which was impossible becomes possible, and the miracle becomes a thing of the past. You scientists, get busy, and lets see who will be the one to discover perpetual motion, a means of controlling the weather, or some other present day impossibility.

—Hultgren.

Cold weather! Do you think this is cold? If you think this is cold you should have experienced the cold days forty or fifty years ago. This brings back to my mind an extremely cold winter we had in 1888 when I was a little whelp. It was in the dead of winter; not a tree was on a leaf. In fact it was so cold that even the absolute thermometers wouldn't register.

It was on such a day as this that my grandfather and I drove a team of bees across the prairie to south Omaha. Here we intended to market the bees, but when we arrived at our destination all we got was air; but we got plenty of that. The marvelous thing about this expedition is that we didn't lose a bee. I got stung once or twice though. And the bees lived happily ever after.

Greeks

Alpha Sigma Lambda

The chapter met at the home of the resident councilor, A. Y. Eychaner, Monday evening, Jan. 20, at which time interrogation preliminary to initiation was held.

Phi Sigma Phi

Because of examinations, the regular meeting of Phi Sigma Phi, to be held this week, is postponed until Monday evening, Feb. 3. John Hoover will entertain the fraternity that night.

Theta Phi Delta

Theta Phi Delta will meet Monday evening, Feb. 3 at the Elks Club. John Barber, newly elected president, will preside.

Gamma Sigma Omicron

A luncheon and a bunco party are among the affairs to be given by the sorority to honor rushers next week. These plans were made at the meeting of the chapter at the home of Serena Morgan, Jan. 20.

Kappa Psi Delta

Inaugurating a new plan for closer association between the active and alumni chapters, the sorority will meet this evening at the home of Myrtle Ochiltree. Representatives of the alumnae will attend.

Phi Delta Phi

Plans for mid-winter rushing were completed at the meeting of the sorority held at the home of Josephine Nix, Thursday evening, Jan. 23.

Pi Omega Pi

February 1 was named as the date of informal initiation for pledges of Pi Omega Pi at the meeting of the sorority at the Hotel Paxton last Wednesday evening. Thursday and Friday parties will be given during rush week.

Sigma Chi Omicron

Lois Eller entertained the actives and pledges at her home, Sunday afternoon, Jan. 26.

A sad story—The man who spent two months to cure halitosis and then found out that he was unpopular anyway.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

(You will remember that Pete Jenker, Englishman, engaged in the World War, took to the air to get out of the mud. Being chased into the enemy territory by four Boche planes, Jenker runs out of fuel and is forced to land, planting the engine of his Nieuport into the trunk of a large tree as he did so. Nanette, the fair peasant who wrapped his head and fed his goat's milk, gives Pete a tip on trapping the German invaders. Go on with the story.)

Pete who hated the war and the mud and the Germans now found himself with a tremendous task on his hands. The job of crossing the German lines so that he might inform the British forces of the unknown trap in which they could pocket the Germans was one in itself. The other, that of locating Nanette after he had finished this damned war was of greater importance to him and as improbable as the first.

Barbed wire . . . dead bodies . . . shell-holes . . . hours of breathless hiding . . . raided wine cellars . . . another score of dead French, Tommies, Germans . . . a chance thought . . . dragging a German form into a shell-hole . . . a partial exchange of attire . . . damned outfit . . .

Pete was nearing the German line but was on the safe side as far as discovery or hurt from the Park-bound hounds went. Then at night when the final outburst of good night shots had been completed, Pete found his chance in entering a German attack on the British line. Once, far above in the black sky, the familiar drone of a motor very similar to a French biplane sounded out and Pete felt like shouting aloud. But the nearby explosion of a British shell changed his mind.

"Couldn't go through the line, hub?" muttered Pete to himself. "What a girl! Dear me . . . Char-pagne . . . talking to me . . . free . . . damned war."

The only chance was in playing stay here? I say, old man, you're a

Berryman Offers Criticism Prize

Sponsors Recital at Local Auditorium This Evening

Professor Cecil Berryman, instructor in the Conservatory of Music, is offering an unknown prize to the person who writes the best criticism of the recital which will be presented this evening by Mary Lou Moran, at the Schmoller and Mueller auditorium.

The recital will be unusual in that Miss Moran will present a program of both piano and violin numbers. A winner in several state and district musical contests, she is a pupil of both Cecil Berryman and Emily Cleve Gregerson.

Edit School Paper

Besides her work in musical lines, Miss Moran has edited the high school paper of the North Platte High School, where she took the leading role in the senior play. She also assists her mother in giving music lessons.

Some of the numbers which will be presented are "The Swan" by Saint-Saens, "Intermezzo from Cavalier Rusticana" by Mascagni, and "Prelude in G Minor" by Rachmaninoff.

PRE-MEDICS HEAR

DR. W. H. CAUGHLAN

Dr. W. H. Caughlan, well-known urologist of Council Bluffs, spoke to the Pre-Meds at the Science Hall last Thursday. His main topic was the diseases of the Urinary Bladder and Kidneys. He illustrated his talk with many views of Anatomy covering Urology. He showed the students various instruments, rather fascinating to watch, quoting some of the prices. Many of them cost as much as $250. He ended the talk by extending a cordial invitation to students to come and witness some of his major operations.

Judge: "Prisoner at the bar. Stand up. Do you know any of the jury-men?"

Prisoner: "Aw! I know more than half of them."

J: "What?"

P: "Well, to be truthful; I know more than half of them and you, too."

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

PETE FINISHES "DAMED WAR" BY GOING THROUGH GERMAN LINES; NANETTE SAVED

dead as often as he could and then bit dumb, what?" Pete was getting ready to damn things again, but nobody was near. The greatest danger now was of being shot by one of the exploring party made him change his plan.

It was nearing dawn and the German attack had failed. The British were holding their line and seemed to be preparing to leave. Pete, elbowing his way through tearing barbed-wire, sickening decompositions, discarded rifles and upturned helmets, now found what it is like to be in No-Man's land with both sides ready to shoot at the slightest movement.

"Follow along," ordered the leader. And Pete followed.

At the officer's quarters, Pete had some trouble in locating the man he wanted to see.

"Who do you want?" queried the sentry in front of the dug-out where he was stationed the Major in charge.

"I'm Lieutenant Jenker of the Royal Flying Corps in the same service that you are and I jolly well would like to see the Major," said Pete as gracefully as possible.

"I have orders not to let him be disturbed," muttered the sentry.

"Damn!" roared Pete as he dove past the sentry and ducked down into the dug-out.

An astonished Major with eyes as tired as those of the old peasant women south of the British line, jerked the frotting Pete to his feet and sat him down on a pile of newspapers.

"Well, what is it?" frowned the Major, waving away the cursing sentry.

"Pete Jenker, Royal Flying Corps, owner of nine German planes and three gas-bags," asserted Pete proudly. "And you?"

"Exploring party for the British," replied the disgruntled one.

"Name on request after we get back over there." And he pointed to the British line. "We will have to take you along, you know. We don't know who you are, you know."

"Damned war," snorted Pete.

"Jenker," said the Major, "I'm sending out runners and no soon as

Theater Section

AT THE ORPHEUM

Bebe Daniels, who created a sensation in "Rio Rita," comes to the Orpheum screen Friday in her latest success, "Love Comes Along," a musical romance adapted from Wallace Smith's famous play, "Contocha."

Lloyd Hughes, who plays opposite her, is seen in the role of a sailor lad, who meets his fate when his ship docks at the south sea port. Hughes makes his debut as a singer in "Love Comes Along," and is said to possess an exceptionally fine tenor voice. Others in the cast include Ned Sparks, Montague Love, Alma Tell and Lionel Belmont.

Twenty-one funmakers, headed by the musical comedy stars, Douglas Leavitt and Ruth Lockwood, are featured in the headline vaudeville attraction, "Hit Bits of 1929," a fast-moving musical revue. Leavitt and Lockwood have clowned their way to fame in such musical shows as "The Student Prince," "Gay Paree" and "Sunny Days." Included in the company are the youthful dancers, Garrison Jones and Elsie Elliott; Teddy Eddy, and singing and yodeling artist Schepp's comedy circus introduces a clever troupe of trained dogs and monkeys.

AT THE STATE

There's a treat in store for you at the State Theatre. "The Sky Hawk," the widely advertised, all-talking air romance, opens today (Wednesday, Jan. 29), for a four-day's run, and judging from the length of its run in other parts of the country, we believe that this thrill special will be apt to break a few of the State's records, too. "The Sky Hawk" is a love struggle between two men for a girl but with new twists and angles that are entertainingly distinctive. Doubly notable for its vivid and breath-taking flying scenes, particularly in the gripping climax, and for its unusually human and appealing story, "The Sky Hawk" is totally unlike any previous aviation film. This special, according to preview notices, is one of the most thrilling features ever made in Hollywood. London, in the early World War period was faithfully reproduced and many of the scenes are laid in a great British airport. The biggest thrill is the night crash between the lone defending flyer and a monstrous dirigible hovering over the mighty English metropolis, prepared to hurl bombs down upon the city. John Garrick, Helen Chandler, and Gilbert Emery, comparatively new to the movie screen, but very well known as stage celebrities, are featured with Joyce Compton, Billy Bevan, Daphne Pollard and others enacting the principal supporting parts. "The Sky Hawk" will close its engagement in Omaha Saturday night, Feb. 1.

THE SKY HAWK

The State also announces the booking of "The Kibitzer," the sensational stage comedy now an all-talking movie farce, opening next Sunday, Feb. 2, for three days. Harry Green, the Hebrew comedian of "Close Harmony," "Why Bring That Up?" and other hits is the star, and Mary Brian and Nell Hamilton head the supporting cast. If you don't know what a "Kibitzer" is, and you want to have the biggest laugh in years, don't miss the State next week. And by the way, everyone attending the State this week is entitled to membership in the "Kibitzer Union." Membership cards are being issued at the State Theatre without charge. Get yours today and have a big laugh.

FACULTY MEN PLAY BALL

The Faculty Volley Ball Team, composed of men faculty members, met Saturday night, Jan. 25, at Jacobs Hall for practice. This team was organized by the faculty men for the purpose of getting regular and "pleasant" exercise.

I make certain you are right, I'll go ahead. If you are right—and here the officer raised his eyebrows and continued, "if you are right, then every medal in this army is yours for the keeping."

"Don't you see," Pete fairly shouted into the tanned ear of the Major, "if we don't get down there and close up this pocket right away, we'll lose the whole outfit. And besides, there's the girl and the old lady.

What will the lousy Huns do when they go through that hut. Dammit, let's go!"

"There, there," consoled the officer. "I'm sending for a plane to make sure. I don't see how this neat little trap which you say is there, ever slipped through. They've had planes up every day. Perhaps they missed the chance, though." And the Major rummaged through his papers.

When the reports came back that the man Jenkins was right and would he please report back to his air-drome at once, the major issued other orders and smiled to Pete.

"I now have a plane waiting for you if you care to use it. The orders are for you to return to your hangar ad once."

"Geevy, sir," said Pete, for once in his life respectful to a superior. "I'm going with you fellows, that is, if I can get a white man's suit. Feel like a jolly beggar in this, you know."

Pete nervously fingered the dirty Max uniform he was wearing.

"Just as you say, sir," checked the Major. "But don't run off and get killed. I'm afraid I better not disappoint the big hogs who want to eat you and hang on the medals when you get back."

But Pete was off to find his Max.

Emery Gives Survey At Faculty Meeting

Omaha Asks Admission to American Association

At the regular meeting of the faculty Thursday, Jan. 23, Dr. Emery opened the meeting with a short survey of the Sixteenth annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges which he had attended the past week in Washington, D. C.

During the convention there were interesting reports given by the leading educators of the country. In his summary to the faculty, Dr. Emery mentioned the following: "Intellectual Life in Colleges," "Improvement of College Teaching," "Report of College Athletics." In the latter he quoted from a pamphlet "Literature of American School and College Athletics" and read the following from the article by Dr. Ernest H. Wilkins:

"Twenty years ago intercollegiate football was on trial because of the dangerousness of the game to the players. To-day it is on trial—but this time a new and more serious indictment. It is precisely this—that intercollegiate football as at present conducted, interferes seriously with the education of the 98 per cent that is the general mass of undergraduate students." Dr. Emery brought several other pamphlets that will be of interest to faculty members and they are on display in his office.

The social side of the convention was also entertaining. There was an annual dinner at which Ambassador and Lady Howard of England were guests of honor, a reception at the White House and a reception given by the American Association of College Women.

The University of Omaha has applied for admission to the Association of American Colleges.

Dr. Emery paid his own expenses to the convention.

EMERY AND DAVIDSON PLAN SUMMER SESSION

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 21, Dr. Emery attended the regular meeting of Psi-Kappa Gamma, Psychology Club in the Conservatory.

Thursday, Jan. 22, Pres. Emery gave the address of welcome and introduction for Governor Weaver before his talk in Jacob's Hall.

Dr. Emery was in his office Friday, Jan. 24, and had conference with Dr. Miller of the Nebraska Medical University; Miss Helen G. Clarke, a teacher in Central High; and Miss Pauline Hanicke, a former student at the University of Omaha and now a teacher in the Omaha School of Individual Instruction.

The Dundee Mothers' Club gave a dinner Saturday evening, Jan. 25, at the home of Mrs. Roma Simpson. Dr. and Mrs. Emery were guests.

Saturday Dr. Emery also had a conference with J. E. Davidson, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, to make final plans concerning a summer session at Omaha University.

et ette and her mother and the goat.

Weeks later, Pete, having brought the now-orphaned Nanette to Paris with him and bestowing upon her the D. S. O. and the Military Cross to dry her tears, was peacefully thinking of the future and wishing a safe trip for his old Nieuport.

Nanette seemed a bit weary herself, and sighed often, very often. Then Pete happened to glance up at a small-faced Frenchman who had just entered the cafe where they were dining and Nanette's gaze followed his.

"Pierre! Cher!" cried Nanette joyfully and dashing over to the stranger she kissed him and he—he returned the kiss adding an embrace.

"I say, you know, what is this, a reunion?" Pete was on his feet ready to fight again.

Nanette turned to Pete, her big eyes sparkling with happiness.

"Pierre, he is my what-you-call husband, you know!"

"Pierre!" muttered Pete.

As he stood from the restaurant he slipped his cigarette into the mud of the street.

"Damned mud," muttered Pete. And when they informed him of the dangers that the war was over, all he could say was,

"Thank you, sayon."

—Copyright applied for

Old Omahans

Grace Harlan will be one of the youngest exhibitors at the annual mid-western exhibition to be held in Kansas City during February. Two of her paintings will be shown. She was prominent in artistic circles on the campus when she attended the university.

Helen Grout will leave Friday, Jan. 23, for Northwestern where she will enter her sophomore year.

Winners in the annual writing contest of the Omaha Women's Press Club include two alumni of the university. In the short story division, Neillie G. Shelley received honorable mention with "White Iris." "Aquaram," a poem by Helene Margaret, won first prize in the poetry division.

Dorothy Minard and John McShane, both former students of the university, recently announced their engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stone Anderson of Williston, formerly of Omaha, announced the birth of a daughter, Jan. 24.

Edwin Rybins, who received his B. S. degree in 1925, is in line for an appointment for a fellowship at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester.

AT THE BRANDEIS

Once in a decade a masterpiece of theatrical mysticism is given to the public. "Wooden Kimono" has proved its right to this title by, by the unstinted praise it received from the New York press, and by its long and successful New York engagements, where it thrilled and amused thousands of playgoers during the past theatrical season. One entire season at the Fulton Theater, New York.

Read what the New York critics said: "The Wooden Kimono" is so packed with excitement that you may wonder why it doesn't explode. But bless you, that's just what it does!"—New York World. "Gasps of horror gales of laughter. Exceedingly well cast—worth the attention of all who enjoy mystery plays."—New York Times. "Pandemonium broke loose on the stage last night. But it was just 'The Wooden Kimono' a mystery melodrama having its premiere. It is one of those plays in which every character is guilty until he is proved innocent and anything noisy is liable to happen at any minute."—New York Sun.

AT THE

GRAVES HAS ANDERSON ELIGIBLE WITH NEW SEMESTER; FINANCES, HOPES RISE

HOPES TO ALTER BAD LUCK DURING FIRST PERIOD; WEAK-EYED FORWARDS TO BE JACKED UP BY FAST HIGH POINT MAN

Omaha Cardinal basketball stock went up about fifty points Monday with the registration of forward Anderson at the Red Bird school for the second semester.

According to Mentor William S. Graves, the presence of this youngster at a forward position will chase away the tough luck that has been turning Red Bird shots away from the hoop all season. Anderson will make his debut Saturday when the revamped Omaha team, doped for the first time this year to win, will tangle with the Peru Bobcats at the Benson high gymnasium.

Aggie Win Promising

Signs of a change in luck were first noticeable a week ago Tuesday, when Omaha trounced the Nebraska Aggies by a ten-point margin. "Shorty" Anderson was good for no less than fifteen points in this fracas, the Card team hanging up seventeen points in each half and not being greatly extended in doing it.

Thus far this season, the Cards have shown considerable ability in most departments of the tossing game. Passing and guarding has been good and the Omahans haven't experienced great difficulty in getting close enough to the basket to shoot. The trouble seems to have been that all the Card forwards have been a little weak-eyed.

Coach Graves, however, now promises Card hopefuls that this weakness has been remedied. Anderson, he says, will spell the cure, and when the coach speaks of this youngster he is all enthusiasm.

Finances Soar

Other hopeful signs are rising and lifting the fog which has clouded the Cardinal school like so much sunlight.

Financial troubles have been pushed into the background. With the opening of the new semester, the athletic coffers are again filled through the incidental fee collected from each student. Gate receipts at the Wayne fracas were larger than they have been in many a moon, according to "Soup" Graves.

Jai Alai Popularity Grows in Miami, Cuba

Oldest Havana Player Is 54; Paid High Salaries

In Miami

Lou Magnolia, bald-headed, eagle-beaked boxing referee, famed for his catlike springs and crouches and quick thinking in the ring, posed with Mayer Reeder, the Junior Chamber of Commerce band, and a jai alai squad on the steps of Miami's city hall last fortnight. Backed by one Sam Kantor, Magnolia is managing the Biscayne Fronton. Most of the Basque, Cuban and Mexican players in Miami use simplifications of their Latin names—Marin, Blanco, Ramos, Lopez. The player called Farnin is the only known jai alai man who wears glasses. Passionately, northern visitors compare the merits of Charley and Antonio, favorites of the season last year.

In Havana

Eduardo Arguelles keeps a stable of 10 players—15 topnotchers at $1,000 a month, 15 beginners at $300. Sometimes he pays a great imported player from Spain as much as $5,000 per month. Through the steep streets, filled with people in straw hats, linen suits and evening dresses, under the glaring lights, bookmakers in red caps cry the betting odds or their change on the permanent roulette. In Havana Arguelles' friends have now two bars going all the time, each fitted for special drinks.

The next round calls for two more games to be played Tuesday, February 4. The winners of the fourth round, the Thetas and the Barbs, meet in the first game at 4:15, and the Phi Sigma Alpha Big contest follows at 4:30.

Thetas Take Phi Sigs In Extra Period 10-6

Fourth of Intra-Mural Fray Has More Thrills Than Varsity

BARS ROUTE ALPHA SIGS

Games in the fourth round of the Intra-Mural Basketball League league were played Tuesday, January 21, in the university gym. Battles were hard-fought, and spirited play characterized both struggles.

In the opener, Theta Phi Delta gave Phi Sigma Phi, league leaders, the short end of a 10 to 6 decision, and the Barbarians routed Alpha Sigma Lambda with a 29 to 11 score.

Theta-Phi Sig, a Thriller

The contest between the Thetas and the Phi Sigs was the thriller of the afternoon, and it went an extra period before the issue was settled in favor of the Thetas. At the end of the regular playing time the score was knotted at six all, but in the waning moments of the overtime period, Getcher and Fay of the Thetas sank field goals to give their team the victory.

Rivalry between the teams was high, and the playing was unusually spirited, so much so that for a time it appeared that "time-out" would have to be called while contestants changed their basketball paraphernalia for football tags. Personal fouls were frequent, seven being called against the victors and six against the losers.

J. Barber Plays Strong

John Barber, steady Theta guard, played his usual strong game and led his team's floor work, incidentally contributing a fielder and a free throw toward his team's total. Scoring honors of the contest went to Paul Fay, Theta forward, with two fielders and free throw.

Scoring for the Phi Sigs was evenly distributed among Hollister, Quinn, and Hansen. Quinn made good on two free throws, and the other two each tossed in a fielder to complete their team's total.

The Barb-Alpha Sig scramble was a more loosely played game, but showed the potential scoring power of the winners. The game became a walk-away for the Barbs and a scramble to see who among them could sink the most field goals.

Playing was not so spirited in this contest, and personal fouls were less in evidence. Only four were called in the whole contest, three against the Barbs and one against the Alpha Sigs.

Hayward a Flash

Don Hayward, flashy Barb center, ran up seven field goals and took the afternoon's scoring honors as well as the high single game total for any league contest thus far. He hit the loop from all angles and made as many fielders as the combined efforts of his teammates could secure. Carden was next with four fielders, and Downing was third with three.

The Hargrove brothers, Mervin and Earl, put on their usual show and did practically all the scoring for the Alpha Sigs. Brother Mervin was the high-light with two field goals and two free throws, and Earl followed suit with two field goals.

The next round calls for two more games to be played Tuesday, February 4. The winners of the fourth round, the Thetas and the Barbs, meet in the first game at 4:15, and the Phi Sigma Alpha Big contest follows at 4:30.

Phi Sigma Retain Lead

Although the Phi Sigs were defeated in the fourth round, they retain their hold on first place by virtue of their former efforts, and they now have three victories and one de-

Grave's Cards Bow Low to Wayne Cats

Difficulty in Gaining Inside of Hoop Repeats Itself

SHOCK TEAM SPILLS ALL

Two complete teams, with substitutes, from Wayne State Teachers' College proved a little too good for Coach W. S. Graves' Cardinal hoopers in a game played last Friday at the Benson high gym. The Wildcats came out on the long end of a 21-to-12 score, which spelled Omaha's second N. I. A. A. conference defeat.

Ray Hickman, Wildcat coach, started the game with his first string. Then after these men had run up a fair lead, he sent his shock troops into the fray. The Red Birds, however, didn't seem to be able to dent this outfit either, during the first half, and the game terminated 15 to 3.

Accuracy Wanting

During the early part of the game the Cards were unable to solve the Wayne defense. When the big city boys finally began making shots, the difficulty was in hitting the hoop accurately enough to make them count.

Evidently Mentor Graves gave his men some good pointers during intermission, for when the second period began, the Cards got hot. They began whittling away the Wayne lead until the score at one time stood at 17 to 12. However, this was as close to victory as the Cards ever got, for Coach Hickman, becoming alarmed, sent in the men who opened the tilt, and Omaha failed to score thereafter.

Fred Fry was high point man of the game. He hit from the center of the floor twice, dribbled in to plant one from under the basket, and counted from the free throw line for seven points.

Barber Enters Late

During the earlier part of the second half the Omahans looked good and played hard and fast. Playing of Fay, Peters, and Sales was stellar. Tody Barber, who entered the fray after the second half was under way, at the insistence of spectators, displayed his usual neat game. Huff showed plenty of scrap.

The summary:

OMAHA (12)

	FG.	FT.	F.	TP.
Peters, f	0	0	1	0
Hatcher, f	0	0	0	0
Huff, f	1	0	0	0
McAtee, cf	1	0	2	2
Fry, gf	3	1	2	7
Barber (C), g	0	0	0	0
Sales, g	0	1	1	1
Totals	5	2	8	12

WAYNE (21)

	FG.	FT.	F.	TP.
Andrews, f	2	2	2	6
Harper, f	0	0	0	0
Jensen, f	0	0	0	0
Alexander, f	3	0	0	6
Pleper, f	1	0	0	0
Stedre, f	0	0	0	0
Schwarz, c	0	0	0	0
Felix, c	0	0	1	0
Langfelt (C), g	1	1	1	3
Lindamood, g	0	0	2	0
Farrow, g	0	0	0	0
Elcke, g	2	0	0	4
Totals	9	3	6	21

Referee—J. V. Helford, Creighton University.

feat to their credit. Theta Phi Delta and the Barbarians continue in their tie for second as a result of their victories in the fourth round, while Alpha Sigma Lambda holds down the cellar.

Standings of the teams, including fourth round results:

Team	G.	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Sigma Phi	4	3	1	.750
Theta Phi Delta	4	2	2	.500
Barbarians	4	2	2	.500
Alpha Sigma Lambda	4	1	3	.250

Standard prices for Standard work Standard Shoe Repair Co. 3115 Farnam Street Shining Parties in Connection

Anderson Helps Omaha Win Over Nebr. Aggies

Erratic Playing by Both Squads Closes With Card Lead

FINAL TALLY 34 to 24

Led by "Mouse" Anderson, who isn't eligible to play in Conference games until next semester, Omaha's Red Birds journeyed to Lincoln, Tuesday, Jan. 21, where they took the Nebraska Aggies for a 34-to-24 trimming. Anderson hooked no less than seven field goals and one free toss for a total of 15 points.

The Cards, making 17 counters in each half, seemed to be good. The play was rather erratic, however. The fray was slow at times, but when Graves' men did get going, play was fast and furious, Omaha making eight counters in less than two minutes at one point in the fracas.

Omaha Leads at Half

At half time the Cardinals led, 17 to 12, and with the exception of a few minutes at the start of both halves, enjoyed a comfortable margin. The Aggies were first to score. Two long counters by Cole and Hall gave them an early lead. Baskets by Huff, McAtee and Anderson pulled the Red Birds out in front and they retained the lead the remainder of the game.

Two floor goals by Herbert, Aggie center, brought his teammates to within one point of the Cardinals soon after the second half began. Huff and Anderson came through, however, with two markers apiece to give the Cards a substantial lead which they held thereafter.

Huff Takes Eight Points

Bennie Huff, Omaha forward, did his best to equal Anderson's record of fifteen pointers, but the best he could ring up was four field goals. Barber and Fry also looked good at the guard positions.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

(Continued From Page 1)

The convention began Wednesday night. Bishop Nicholson, president of the League, presided. After address of welcome, F. S. McBride, superintendent of the national organization, told of the work of the League in connection with elections. Rev. A. J. Barron spoke on "The South Makes Good." After the meeting, Dr. H. H. Russell, founder of the League, drilled the hundred student delegates until midnight upon a question box to be memorized.

"Yes, it was a great time. Everything was arranged so perfectly for us that even bridge games after midnight, airplane rides (which I refused for fear that I could not do justice to a banquet later), and similar thrills did not exhaust us. Undoubtedly my French and Botany suffered but well, it was great, that's all."

1st Student: "I don't need to eat at the cafeteria any more."

2nd. Student: "Why not?"

1st. Student: "Because I get all the hash I want in my examinations."

University Lunch DELICIOUS HOME-MADE PASTRY HOT LUNCHES

3713 No. 24th St. We. 2157

We solicit Student Trade

Johanson Drug Co. Graduate Pharmacists 3819 No. 24th St. We. 0942

STANDARD PRICES FOR STANDARD WORK

Standard Shoe Repair Co. 3115 Farnam Street Shining Parties in Connection

University of Omaha

ANDERSON "WHOOPS IT UP" TO PASS McATEE IN GAINING CARD POINTS

FRED FRY TIES WITH YOUNG BEN HUFF FOR THIRD HONORS; PETERS FINALLY BREAKS IN WITH AGGIE TOSS

Phi Sigs Garner Win Over Tricky Thetas

Rival Frats Stage Spectacular Battle for Wayne-Card Fans

INTRA-MURAL UNAFFECTED

When the Phi Sigs' meet Theta Phi Delta in an athletic contest, local interest is as great as is national interest in an East-West football game or the World Series.

As a consequence the Phi Sigs have something to crow about because they salted away a contest with the Thetas in the waning moments of a preliminary to the Omaha-Wayne fracas last Friday evening.

Phi Sigs Run Up Score

With the score knotted at nine-all, the Phi Sigs got their horses and rode down the opposition when Remde and Arthur sunk counters to make it 13 to